Smith Hamon, accused of firing the shot which resulted in the death of Jake Hamon, wealthy oil man of Oklahoma, on November 21, is believed to be in Texas.

The report she went to Mexico is not believed here. E. W. Sallis, chauffeur, who says he drove the woman in an automobile from Dallas to Cisco, where she purchased a ticket for Fapaso, dropped a few remarks which led the officers to believe the woman is still in Texas. Ketch, accompanied by two had purchased tickets from Ardmore to Fort Worth.

Saills told newspaper men the woman told him several rich oil men had given money to her with which to get out of the country. One man gave $15,000, so Saills says. While there is some doubt here whether the woman Saills hauled is Clara Smith Hamon. Saills never has deviated from his first statement made to Russell Brown. County Attorney at Ardmore, while closeted with him in the City Hall in Dallas at midnight last Sunday.

Sunday.

Dallas officers say they will not attempt to arrest Sallis unless charges are filed against him in Ohlahoma for aiding and abetting a fugitive from justice to escape. They say Sallis followed the right procedure when he telephoned to the Oklahoma officers immediately after his return here and advised them of the trip he made with the woman.

CLARA SMITH'S PAPERS SHOW HER MRS. HAMON Insurance Receipts and Calling Cards Found.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 2.—A search of personal belongings of Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon, found in Kansus City, was made to-day on instructions from Russell R. Brown, County Attorney at Ardmore, in the hope that it would reveal me clue that would lead to the arrest f the woman charged with firing the hot that ended Hamon's life.

The report that Mrs. Hamon was ever the wife of Hamon's nephew apparently is refuted by life insurance reelpts found. They show that the pre-niums were paid in the name of Mrs.

miums were paid in the name of Mrs. F. L. Hamon. The most recent was dated January 23, 1920, and showed she had paid a premium of $129.55 to the Kansas City Life Insurance Company at the company's Topeka office. There also were calling cards bearing the name of Mrs. F. L. Hamon.

There was a scrapbook containing thousands of clippings dealing with the political and business activities of Hamon. In each his name was underscored with a blue pencil, indicating they had been collected for Mrs. Hamon by a clipping bureau.

The scrapbook and loose clippings showed that Mrs. Hamon had carefully preserved everything that referred to Hamon. There were even unpublished typewritten articles lauding and praising him. One of these referred to him as an "empire builder" and spoke of his "dauntless courage, boundless confidence in his own ability and marvellous capacity for surmounting obstacles."

"2. Let the Federal Government create a finance corporation of some sort that will enable the people of other lands to obtain from us the commodities they so greatly need but for which they are not able to make immediate payment. We believe such a corporation to be entirely feasible and that its mere creation would substantially help the situation.

"3. The Federal Reserve Board should be urged and authorized to advise all banks to adopt a liberal policy of renewals. The law authorizing six months' credit on foreign paper should be liberally construed and renewals for a like period should be freely granted wherever consistent with other solvency. The real wealth of the country is unimpaired. It would be a suicidal policy to destroy this wealth by a peremptory call of arms.

"If necessary revenues for mined thought in thou imposing a burden upon the State's industries. In Pennsylvania, the Governor said no direct State tax is levied upon the property of the people, needed revenues being derived from taxes upon capital stock, securities and the earnings of certain classes of corporations, upon inheritances and from fees and licenses. All possible efforts, he declared, should be made to relieve citizens and industries of burdens made particularly heavy during the last few years by the expenses of the war.

Reversing Party Attitudes.

The afternoon session was enlivened by expressions from two Governors which reversed the ordinary political attitudes of the traditional Northern Republican and Southern Democrat.

business."

Gov. Coodrict of Indiana, a member of the committee, said he did not entirely approve its phraseology, though he was heartily in accord with its purposes. Other members of the committee were Governors Bickett of North Carolina, Harding of Iowa, Holcomb of Connecticut and Parker of Louisiana.

Amendment of the Federal Constitution to provide that no further amendments shall become effective "unless sanctioned by the people" was urged in an address before the conference by Gov. Percival W. Clement of Vermont, who warned against further centralization of power in Washington and declared that the Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth amendments had been clared that the Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth amendments had been "imposed upon the people without their consent."

Gov. Smith on Housing Problem.

Nowhere is private initiative filling the demand for homes, declared the paper by Gov. Smith of New York, read by Representative Edward F. Boyle of New York, a member of the Housing Commission. The Empire State Gov-ernor wrote that Government action told all he knows of the case and that he believed he could find the woman in less than thirty-six hours.

Information was received in Dallas Thursday morning to the effect that Frank L. Ketch, business manager for Hamon, was on his way to Dallas to confer with Sallis in regard to the story Sallis gave to the newspapers Wednesday morning. It was reported that Ketch, accompanied by two other men, had purchased tickets from Ardmore to Fort Worth.

Government ought to be asked to help thouse who do not first make every effort those who do not first make every effort to be a united effort in every community to keep any good man from being dealone can prevent serious trouble, but he did not believe a single bureau at Washington could handle such a grantic problem. He favored a system of State credits for building houses rather than a national housing fund.

After a review of what has been done in New York to help home building the Governor suggested steps taken in New York should be used as a basis for Federal action to combat similar debtor into bankruptcy if by the most liberal indulgence he would be ultimately able to pay. Business failures do more than wreck business; they ofttimes destroy man.

period should be freely granted wherever consistent with other solvency. The real wealth of the country is unimpaired. It would be a sulcidal policy to destroy this wealth by a peremptory call of arms.

"If necessary the Congress should at once amend the Federal Reserve law so as to temporarily supply additional currency and afford more time in which to pay to debtors in distress.

"We believe that the general adoption by individuals and by the Government of the policies herein suggested would not only afford majorial aid but would at once supplant the gloom and the fear of the present with that confidence which is so vital the wolverme and successful business."

Gov. Coodrie' of Indiana, a member of the committee, said he did not entirely approve its phraseology, though he was heartly in accord with its purposes.

Other members of the committee were Governors Bickett of North Carolina, Harding of Iowa, Holcomb of Connecticut and Parker of Louisiana.

Amendment of the Federal Constituation of the policies and provided the first purpose of the committee, said he did not entirely approve its phraseology, though he was heartly in accord with its purposes.

Other members of the committee were governors Bickett of North Carolina, Harding of Iowa, Holcomb of Connecticut and Parker of Louisiana.

Amendment of the Federal Constituation of Government Functions. Speaking on the subject of "Decentralization of Government Functions" and stressing the desirability of decentralization, Gov. Carey of Wyoming depolated what he called a growing neglect of "States' rights." The Federal Government, through certain activities, was "retarding development," he declared.

Immediately Gov. Harding took the floor with the suggestion that all other Respublicans "turn their faces to the wall, permitting our Democratic friends to chuckle."

A few moments later Gov. John M. Parker of Louisiana, making a plea for farmal laborers of the South, who, he said, had to compete with nineteen cents a day syrup and vegetable oil manufacturers of Ori

Gov. Goodrich of Indiana arose.
